LIFE BEGINS AT 85

GREAT - GREAT - GRANDMOTHER AT EDMONTON MARRIES FOURTH

EDMONTON — For Mrs. James Kennedy, life begins again at 85 — and you learn a lesson — it pays to advertise!

In a quiet ceremony at the registrar's office here Monday, this radiant great-great grandmother became the bride of a man she met a week ago as a result of an advertisement she ran in the personal column of a newspaper.

FIRST FOR HUBBY

Mrs. Kennedy became the wife of William McDougal, 65. It was her fourth marriage, his first.

"I'm so happy I don't know what to say," exclaimed the bride, while the beaming bridegroom chimed in, "I'm very, very proud of the silver-haired lady by my side."

The new Mrs. McDougal said she had been lonely since her third husband died nearly three years ago and last week she decided to run a small advertisement in the newspaper.

"Wanted: Male companion whose home life begins at 80" and gave a telephone number.

Mrs. McDougal, who has 25 great-grand children and five great-great grandchildren, said she had 75 telephone replies to the advertisement.

"Why, I even had some today after we were married," she laughed.

Mr. McDougal was the third person to call her and after two meetings they decided Friday to marry.

GOD SENT HIM TO ME

"God sent him to me and I wouldn't give him up for a million dollars," she declared.

Mr. McDougal, a painter and decorator by trade, said he is going to settle down to a quite home life and devote his time to musical composition.

He said he has already composed several pieces, one of which was published in the Canadian Legion Magazine, and some religious works that have been performed in city churches.

Few Farmers On Land

LAC LA BICHE—As the last full week of April came to a close, little activity was to be found on the land. The odd farmer was to be seen working on a south slope, but for the most part the land was not yet ready to be tilled.

Farmers expect to be out in full force with their tractors and machery by the first of May. Moisture conditions are reported to be good although a rain might be acceptable for the legume crops. As it is uncertain how much damage such crops have suffered from winter killing. District Agriculturist Sid Lore reports that subsoil moisture conditions are excellent.

MORE LOCAL NEWS COMING

This week, due to election printing that must be done, we are unable to set all the local news for this issue of the paper. However, as soon as the election typesetting is "caught up" we will publish all the news sent in by our local editors and district reporters.

Banquet Signals Baseball Season

LAC LA BICHE— The senior baseball club held a banquet April 25 for the players and others who are vitally interested in the team and its activities. The banquet attended by 40 guests, signalled the opening of the baseball season.

Mike Maccagno, a long-time baseball enthusiast, was master of ceremonies and speakers included Roy Raines, Rev. Father McGrane, Rev. R. S. Greene, J. K. Olstad, Marshall Patterson, Rev. S. Munro and others.

A general baseball meeting has been called for May 9, when the club will tackle the business of organizing for the season ahead. The United Church Ladies' Aid catered for the banquet.

After the banquet a free show was enjoyed at the Aurora Theatre.

Lac la Biche Boy Drowned On Duty

LAC LA BICHE—Word was received last week that LAC Joseph Michetti RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Michetti of Lac la Biche, had been drowned while on sea-air rescue manoeuvres with the Air Force near Val Dor in Quebec, April 25.

The body was recovered April 28 and it will arrive in Lac la Biche at 1:10 p.m. on Friday next.

Funeral will be held from St. Catherines Church here on Saturday morning May 4 at 11 o'clock.

The Michettis are old timers of this district, the grandparents of the airman are still living in Hylo where they homesteaded many years ago. The sympathy of the whole district is extended to the bereaved family.

HSA To Meet

LAC LA BICHE—Friday, May 3 is the date of the next Home and School Association meeting. As usual the place of meeting will be the Dr. Swift School, the time, 8:00 p.m.

Earl Wright, deputy reeve of municipal district of Athabasca, who successfully directed the flight plan of the Pacific Western Airlines plane in search for Gladys Pushor.

Search For Local Girl Successful

ATHABASCA—One of the largest hunts on record ended happily at 10 a.m. last Tuesday when Gladys Pushor, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenn Pushor of Meanook, was spotted by air from a low flying Pacific Western Airlines plane, piloted by Gavin Breckenridge of Edmonton, chartered and directed by Earl Wright of Paxson.

About 250 persons—neighbors, farmers and businessmen from the locality and the town of Athabasca—had searched throughout the night with flashlights in a vain attempt to locate her.

Junior Fix of Athabasca, flying his own plane, patrolled the area on Monday evening and Tuesday morning until the child was found.

RCMP from Athabasca directed the searchers, which included an RCMP officer and dog from the Westlock detachment.

A general alarm called to Athabasca at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday brought a prompt response, and searchers were streaming to the area where the discovery was made.

When found, the child was well hidden in a swamp about two miles north of her farm home in an extremely rough area.

The rescue party, which included the RCMP and dog, and B. C. Hart of Meanook, were guided to the spot by messages and streamers dropped by the plane's occupants.

Shortly after the search ended, the PWA plane proceded north to make several air drops of election supplies to isolated areas.

Garbage Collection System Subject Of Discussion At Town Council Meet

LAC LA BICHE — The chief subject to be discussed at the regular meeting of town council, April 23, was a garbage collection system for the town. Two sample by-laws relating to the subject were studied and the matter was given considerable discussion, with council agreed that some sort of plan would have to be put into operation this year.

One of the major questions before the council is how to meet the cost of the regular pick-up service, whether by a regular charge to householders, or by taxation. Some discussion also took place as to whether the job should be done by a paid employee of the town, using town equipment, or whether a contract should be let. The matter will be brought to a head within the next few weeks in order that the annual town estimates may be completed.

Some attention was given to estimates but there was not sufficient time to give the question much detailed study.

A report of Police Constable Beavan for the month of March was read. The constable, who was present, informed the council that he was greatly handicapped in dealing with some types of offenders by not having transportation.

Building permits for a shoe shop and an addition to a dwelling were approved. The secretary was instructed to prepare an amendment to the zoning by-law, requiring that a fee of $3.00 be charged for a building permit.

Members of council present at the meeting were Councillors McMillan, Tkachuk, Hamar, Lobay and Vincent, as well as Mayor Hamar and secretary Creighton.

Accounts amounting to $1,180.97 were passed for payment.

It is expected that the budget for 1957 will be dealt with at the next meeting.

Mission Leader Visits St. Peter's Mission

The Rev. Canon A. H. Davis of Toronto, field secretary of The Anglican Church's Missionary Society paid a recent visit to St. Peter's Mission.

Canon Davis who recently returned from a round the world tour of the Church's mission fields spoke of the work which Christians are doing in Japan and India. Speaking of the sacrifices of Asiatic Christians he cited the case of the diocese of Amritsar in Northern India, recently devasted by floods. In this diocese where 60 per cent of the people lost their homes, missionary givings increased last year by 50 per cent. Canon Davis also told of a young Brahmin boy preparing for the priesthood. He is the first member of a high caste in this diocese to prepare for such work. Because of this decision he had cut himself off from his wealthy family and all of his former acquaintances. One man had even attempted to poison him rather than have a Brahmin become a Christian.

The sacrifices made by these Asiatic Christians are the kind of sacrifices which many of us in this country will also have to make if the 'Gospel of the Good News" is to be given to men.

Canon Davis left Edmonton Sunday night for Winnipeg where he will address the Synod of the diocese of Rupert's Land on Tuesday. He will then proceed to London, Ont. in the diocese of Huron where he will address a monster mission rally this coming Sunday.

59 ALBERTA CANDIDATES VIE FOR 17 FEDERAL SEATS

By ERNEST MARDON

EDMONTON, (BUP) — A total of 56 men and three women have announced their intention of contesting Alberta's 17 federal ridings in the June 10 general election.

The Social Credit party had 11 members of parliament in the old house of commons. The Liberals had four and the Progressive Conservatives two.

Eleven sitting MP's are seeking re-election. Four others are quitting federal politics and two — Solon E. Low, SC national leader, and veteran socred, John Blackmore—have not yet made known their plans. Low who has represented the Peace River riding since 1945, suffered from a heart attack in the fall of 1954.

In the 1953 general election, there were 70 federal candidates in Alberta. More than a dozen men are expected to come forward during the next few weeks.

Eight Social Credit MP's are asking Albertans to be sent back to Ottawa again. Three of them, Rev. Ernest George Hansell of Macleod, Victor Quelch of Acadia and Charles Johnston of Bow River—have been in the commons continuously since 1935. British-born Hansell masterminded the British Columbia 1952 provincial election that resulted in a Social Credit landslide.

Others seeking re-election are Frederick Shaw of Red Deer, Ray Thomas of Wetaskiwin, Charles Yuill of Jasper-Edson, Ambrose Holowach of Edmonton East, and James Smith of Battle River - Camrose. Smith edged his Liberal rival by 388 votes in a byelection two years ago caused by the death of socred Robert Fair. Syd Thompson will contest the Edmonton-Strathcona seat under the Social Credit banner.

Only one Independent so far has come forward. He is W. R. Klink, a school principal, who will stand for the Medicine Hat constituency. William Wylie, SC, is retiring, and H. A. Olson, rancher and storekeeper is the official Social Credit candidate. Liberal Mayor Harry Veiner who is running again, lost out in the 1953 election to Wylie by a mere 386 votes.

Three other mayors across the province have accepted Liberal nominations to run. They are Mayor William Hawrelak of Edmonton, Mayor Don MacKay of Calgary and Mayor Fred Johns of Leduc, who will contest the Wetaskiwin riding.

George Prudham, minister of mines, is retiring and 60-year-old former Rhodes scholar Henry Dyde, Q.C., will try to hold Edmonton West, a Liberal stronghold for the past 32 years.

Veteran Liberal Joseph Miville Dechene, who is 78 years of age and Liberal Dick Hanna are campaigning for their seats. The province's other two Liberals, Prudham, 54 and John Decore, 48, are retiring. Fred Magera, a retired agriculturalist, is the Liberal candidate for Dick Decore's old seat of Vegreville.

Other Liberal candidates include Dr. Gordon Burton, former professor at McGill University; Doug McKeen, auctioneer and farmer, whose father served from 1921 to 1935 as deputy speaker in the provincial legislature; and Miss Una Maclean, a Calgary party worker. Miss Maclean is standing for Calgary North and McKeen for Jasper-Edson.

The C.C.F. party has 13 standard bearers already nominated, including two women. They are Mrs. Nancy Zazeybida, wife of a Vegreville farmer and Mrs. Minnie Harris, a Stony Plain school teacher. The former is standing for Vegreville and the latter for Jasper-Edson.

Among other socialist candidates is Walter Mentz, 62-year-old Edmonton stonemason, who is known as godfather of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation because he proposed the name at the Calgary convention of 1934. He was born in Latvia and is the Edmonton West C.C.F. nominee.

Three other CCF candidates are farmers, three are school teachers and Sandy Manson was a reporter of the Edmonton Journal until he accepted the CCF nomination for Red Deer. Manson is now assistant oranizer for the party in the province.

Progressive Conservatives held Calary's two seats in the old house of Commons and hope to increase their standing in the new. Lt. Col. Douglas Harkness who has been returned in Calgary North since 1945, is asking the people to send him back to Ottawa. Carl Nickle, MP for Calgary South, is retiring from politics and the Tories have nominated Art Smith to run in his place. Smith whose father held the riding for nine years during the 1940's, last week resigned his seat in the provincial legislature. He is an able speaker and has Mayor Mackay as one of his opponents.

Two young conservative Edmonton Lawyers hope to swing the Alberta capital from the Liberals. Marcel Lambert, 38, former Rhodes scholar, is contesting Edmonton West while Terry Nugent, 36, is fighting Liberal Dick Hanna who was returned in the last federal election.

Jack Bowie Reed, a former newspaperman, is the John Diefenbaker supporter in Edmonton East. Other contestants for the constituency include Socred Holowach whose majority was 1,228 in 1953; Liberal Mayor Hawrelak and CCF Robert Atkin, president of the Edmonton Labor Council.

The Labor Progressive party, which had 13 Alberta candidates last time, has nominated Ray Maricle to contest the Vegreville constituency. Maricle, A Hamlin district farmer, obtained 2,346 of the 9,000-odd votes cast for the LPP across the province four years ago. More candidates including provincial party secretary Tuomi, are expected to be named by the end of the month.

"And What is Writ is Writ,

Mother's Day

The one day in the year set apart for the veneration of all mothers will soon be upon us and surely, none will neglect to wear a flower for remembrance, make a gift as symbolic of our devotion, and speak a pleasant word to all mothers on this day of days.

Mother's Day is an occasion which had its origin in the New World, and it is rapidly spreading in the lands where Christ is King and the wonder and glory of Motherhood is appreciated at its true worth. Only in those lands where womanhood is relegated to inferior status, is treated as a beast of burden and thrown to common labor as a sign of "equality," is Mother's Day not recognized.

Thank mothers for their wonderful ways on Mother's Day. And thank God for all Mothers on that same day.

Conserving Timber

Alberta's first pulp mill has just gone into production at Hinton and there are a few novel features about the venture that deserves mention. First of all, most of the pulp logs are delivered to the mill by truck—not by river drive as commonly expected. This ties in with company policy of buying suitable logs from private farmers. A new farm cash crop is indicated, for a year-round market.

Secondly, the company's timber grant is managed on a sustained yield basis. This means that the annual amount of wood cut must not exceed the amount grown in the same period. This does away with the one-time custom of ruthless cutting which denuded huge forest areas before men became conservation-minded.

The full impact of this policy may not be felt at first. It will later, when Albertans find that after a decade, say, of pulp operations, our timber supply is as good as the day the Hinton mill started. This is good business for all concerned, including posterity. North Western Pulp & Power Ltd. deserve credit for their enterprise and farsightedness in this vital matter.

Use Your Mind

A number of us, both men and women, are guilty of failing to properly exercise our minds and improve our education, thus expanding our knowledge. This does not mean that we should be bookworms, or that we should dry up and get serious about everything.

However, in the opinion of the Editor, every citizen shares a responsibility to look into the issues which face this country, his province and local community, and try to inform himself, to some slight degree, on the more important ones.

Too often, in our modern civilization, we are prone to do very little thinking, a great deal of talking and little or no research or investigation, to discover the truth or improve our knowledge in various fields. It is too easy to watch television, go to a moving picture, or do something which requires no thought and which is strictly pleasure, to turn aside these indulgences and exercise our brain power.

Nevertheless, it is suggested that readers find some stimulating hobby, or subject, in which they can interest themselves and that they attempt to learn something about it, either by reading, studying, or by doing some pioneer or hobby work in that field. And hardly any subject can be covered properly, if at all, if the interested individual does not do some reading on the subject.

It is disappointing to see citizens reach an advanced age with no particular knowledge in any field, except in the field of conversation, pleasures and indulgences, and non-creative pursuits. Every citizen should try to contribute something to his community, his province and nation, in order to assist the general progress. What are you doing, or have you done, toward this end?

Emergency! Emergency!

A lady we know at this office has to look after a husband and six children, yet finds time to work at hospital auxiliary work as well as canvassing for the Chest and Cancer drives.

Last week she spend a whole day on her Cancer canvass. At the end of the day she had collected $3—of which $1 came from her oldest son, who is now working.

She spent a second day at the task and collected $2.50. A number of persons said "Call later". Others said "My husband already donates," "We just can't afford it," "What, another collection," "Not today, thank you," and similar excuses in a variety of veins.

It is not good enough. This City of Edmonton is prospering in the most prosperous Province of the most wonderful country on the face of the earth. Look down any residential street in the evening supper hour and count the cars. Cars cost money to run, money for licenses, $50 to $60 for insurance. Cancer research is insurance, too. But apparently some people won't pay the premium in the shape of a donation to Cancer research.

If they fail to recognize an emergency now, they might find themselves in an emergency later.

How Moose Jaw Got Its Name

Many western Canadian cities have queer names. It is interesting to trace back and note how a certain Lord Dunmore named one of the oddest—the busy, bustling Saskatchewan city of Moose Jaw.

In the 1860's while the whole area draining into the Hudson Bay was under the control of the company, several titled Englisshmen travelled in the great lone land.

The Earl of Southesk made his way from Fort Garry to Edmonton and then into the Rocky Mountain region. He had much to contend with but he read Shakespeare's plays and other English classics and wrote many notes which he later compiled into a book.

Charles Murray, the Seventh Earl of Dunmore, had travelled in Africa and Asia. He served Queen Victoria as Lord-in-Waiting and, when still a young man, he organized a party to engage in buffalo hunting in western Canada. Horses and repeating rifles were used at that time and it was exciting sport to ride into a great herd and shoot an especially selected, galloping buffalo, from a galloping horse.

On one occasion he shot a moose and left most of it for the wolves. When passing this place the next year, a cart broke down. He repaired it, using the jaw bone of the moose as a hammer. The place is now called "Moose Jaw".

Lord Dunmore was sick at Fort Ellis on one occasion. He sent for Dr. Cheadle who rode hard for three days but when he reached Fort Ellis he found the English lord had recovered and gone on a buffalo hunt.

The towns along the CPR — Dunmore, Southesk and Cheadle—are all named after these nobles who came seeking adventure in the Canadian west. All three of them wrote books which were in great demand in England at the time.

NO WELFARE FOR HIM

Our new Prime Minister—Macmillan—is coming in for some praise for his courage in telling the British that they can't get something for nothing, even under a Welfare State. Let me give you my views on our Welfare State. Before we had it I paid nothing at all for health, unemployment or anything else. Now I pay good money every week in advance for unemployment insurance— but I have never been unemployed. For doctors, prescriptions, etc.—but I haven't even got a doctor. For school meals and milk—but I have no children and my age is 63. For a pension—which will not operate for a long time yet. You may say that welfarism is paid for eventually by those who think they benefit by it. I say it is fully paid for well in advance by everybody, including people like me who don't benefit personally. I don't like the Welfare State. L. M. MAASZ.

DEFENDING INGRID

Ingrid Bergman's selection as best film actress of the year seems to have outraged some people. I would like to point out that, even if she didn't live up to some American moral standards, she is no worse than hundreds of war brides brought into the United States. Many of these foreign war brides were just women of the streets, but so long as the service man married them they were allowed in and no questions asked. What hypocrisy!

Why not more funny pictures in your paper? I know one reader who says he doesn't like comics. Well, here's one up on him. I know a woman who doesn't like comics, movies, radio, TV, babies, drinks, parties or cigarets. In fact, I can't figure out what she is bothering to live for.

MORE IRISH, SCOTCH

I think of all the good immigrants that would like to come to Canada from Ireland and Scotland. They must wait and wait. GENERAL ELECTION THOUGHT

Would it be possible to charge each elected M.P. or M.L.A. a fee for office, somewhat similar to the Deposit they put up as candidates. If thy fail to attract a fixed number of seats they lose their deposits. Likewise, if they fail to keep their election promises, they should lose this type of deposit. It might result in fewer candidates, but it would also result in fewer false promises.

DISTRICT AGRICUTURIST NOTES

By J. S. LORE

Results of a packing test at Lacombe indicate that effective packing at the time of seeding is essential to obtain maximum yield. Barley was seeded on spring-plowed stubble using a press drill, double disc drill and discer. Behind each of the double disc drill and discer, three types of packers were used, a disc packed, coil packer and modified crowfoot packer. These packers were used without additional weight.

The press drill is widely used in central Alberta for seeding cereal crops and all yields in this test are compared to that obtained by using the press drill. No significant yield differences were observed between plots seedd with th press drill, double disc drill, and crowfoot packer after discer. The coil packer after discer plot resulted in a slightly lower yield. However, the disc packer after discer plot was 10 per cent lower in yield.

Date of maturity was two days later on the coil packer after discer plot as compared with the press drill. On the disc packer after discer plot, the delay was four days. Rate of maturity on all double disc drill plots was essentially the same as for the press drill.

The above test was carried out on black loam soil at Lacombe. It showed that when seeding with the discer it is advisable to use a heavy packer such as the crowfoot to ensure obtaining maximum crop yield.

As in past years the Master Farm Family Program is in operation this year.

The farm families nominated for the Master Farm Family Award must fulfill the following requirements:

1. The family must be Canadian citizens.
2. The head of the family must be the owner-operator or lease operator of the farm.
3. The head of the family must have spent a least twenty (20) consecutive years in actual operation of a farm in his own right and not in partnership. (In case of veterans, absence on military service will be accepted in lieu.)

N.B.—A farm operated by a partnership or business agreement, involving other than members of the family, i.e. wife and/or children of the operator, is not eligible. No family shall be eligible to receive the Master Farm Family Award whose standing in this program has been made possible by the receipt of revenue from sources other than farming.

Forms are available in my office in Lac La Biche for anyone who wishes to nominate a farmer who is eligible. Nominations must be in by the first of June.

THE Homemaker

By Doris Montalbetti

You know, good housekeeping really pays off. Take dust on electric lamp shades, bulbs and bowls for instance, you're paying for the electricity so you may as well get all there is in a light bulb. Dust collecting on these things can shut out considerable light. Don't let dust rob you of the light you pay for.

In many of our homes we're bothered with greasy gas fumes collecting on ceilings and light fixtures. This greasy film can be removed quite easily. Turn the switch off and remove the bulbs and bowls from the fixture. Wash like any glassware. Bulbs and fluorescent tubes should not be immersed in water; but should be cleaned when they are cool with a damp soapy cloth, and then wiped dry. Make sure your hands are dry before you replace them.

When tubes and bulbs still look dark after cleaning, they are deteriorating and need to be replaced. Otherwise you are paying for light you are not getting. Dispose of old bulbs and tubes carefully so that they will not be broken and will not be a hazard, especially to children. Besides the danger of cuts from broken glass, there is chance of harm from materials used inside fluorescent tubes.

Calgary Power Opens $8,000,000 Plant On Shores Of Lake Wabamun

The $8,000,000 Wabamun Power Plant is the first major steam plant to be built and operated by Calgary Power Ltd. It represents an important part of a construction program being carried out by the company to meet the power demand in Alberta. The plant, located 42 miles west of Edmonton on the shores of Lake Wabamun, was completed in October, 1956, and took two and a half years to build. It has an initial generating capacity of 66,000 kilowatts. By 1960, its capacity is to be 262,000 kilowatts.

Plans for hydro plant extensions are also going apace. The $1,700,000 extension at the Cascade plant near Banff will double the output from 18,000 kilowatts to 36,000 kilowatts. Extension work scheduled for completion by 1959, at the Spray and Rundle plants, will add another 72,000 kilowatts. By the fall of 1960 the company's hydro capability will be 320,000 kilowatts. The company's total generating capacity will double in the next five years.

The Wabamun Power Plant was constructed to meet the base load needs on the Company's system, particularly in the area surrounding Edmonton where industry has mushroomed since the discovery of the Leduc Oil field in 1947. With the Wabamun plant handling the base load, hydro plants will be extended to meet peak load demands. Hydro plants are flexible in operation. They can be brought on and off the line within minutes without significant loss of efficiency.

THERMAL PLANT OPERATION AND WABAMUN

In recent years thermal plants have become large, more efficient and more economical to operate, particularly if low cost fuel is available. As a result they are well suited to handle the base load. By combining the desirable characteristics of both thermal and hydro plants, into an integrated supply system, power can be produced at the lowest possible cost.

The fuel used in the plant, at present, is natural gas from the Alexander field thirty-three miles northeast of Wabamun. Every 24 hours 18,000,000 cubic feet of gas (approx.) is burned in the plant's ten story high steam generator.

The plant was located at Wabamun because of the estimated 80,000,000 ton deposit of strippable coal nearby, the abundant supply of cooling water from Lake Wabamun and its proximity to established power loads. It has been built to accommodate the equipment necessary for conversion to coal.

Power from the plant is produced by a Metropolitan-Vickers 88,000 h.p. steam turbine and generator, weighing 350 tons. Steam energy is converted into electrical energy at the rate of 9,700 B.T.U.'s per kilowatt hour. The totally enclosed, hydrogen cooled generator operates at 3600 r.m.p. and produces alternating current (60 cycles per second) at 13,800 volts. The turbine uses steam at 850 lbs. per square inch at 900 degrees F to drive the directly coupled generator. The unit is lubricated by a 3500 gallon oil system. The 13,800 volts are transformed up to 138,000 volts by an 80,000 KVA transformer in plant's sub-station. The power is then fed into a transmission line built for 230,000 volts but operated initially at 138,000 volts.

THE DEMAND FOR POWER IN ALBERTA

The demand for power is growing faster in the foothills province than anywhere else in Canada. In 1956 the company's load was over 1,300,000,000 kilowatt hours. In 1946 it was 400,000,000 kilowatt hours. This represents a 325 per cent increase for the company's system in Alberta as compared to a 225 per cent increase for all of Canada over the same ten-year period. The submission of the Alberta Government to the Gordon Royal Commission on Mineral Resources estimated that per capita consumption will increase from 1630 kilowatt hours in 1955 to 4760 in 1985. The Company's load is presently increasing at the rate of 200,000,000 kilowatt hours per year.

This demand is due to: the tremendous growth of industry, a prosperous and growing population using more electrical appliances and a rapidly expanding rural electrification programme.

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH AND ALBERTA'S RESOURCES

It is believed industrial development in the province has doubled since 1951. This development is largely responsible for the 20½ per cent increase in the base load on the company's system, which the Wabamun plant has been designed to meet.
